

[SOLDER COMPOSITION]

Abstract

A solder composition adapted to bond metallic materials and non-metallic materials is provided. The solder composition can enhance the bonding strength for the metallic materials and the non-metallic materials. The solder composition mainly comprises Sn-Cr alloy. The solder composition further includes another metal component for regulating the bonding capability so that the solder composition can be used to bond various materials.